According to 2006 census, there were a total of 909 dwellings in Cashmere (135261 in Christchurch City). All were private occupied dwellings were non-private dwellings such as hospitals and prisons (compared with 99.5% for city as a whole).

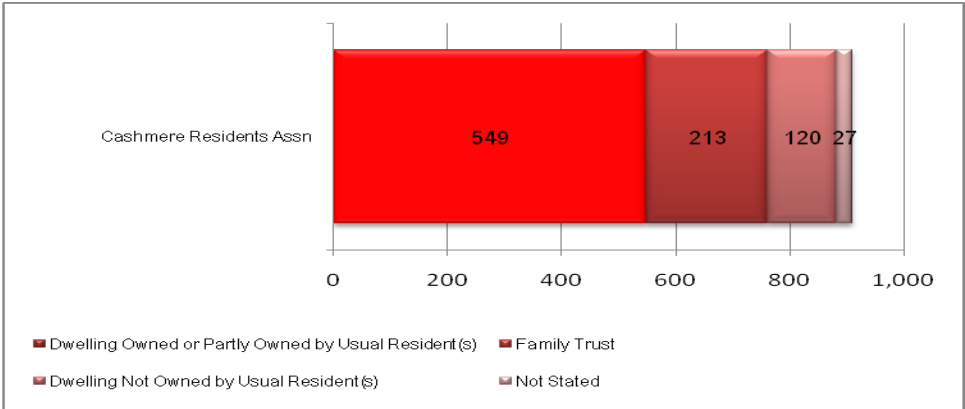

The predominant private dwelling is the separate house followed by attached flats, units, townhouses, apartments and houses joined together. These two groups accounted for 86% (separate houses) and 14% (units) of all private occupied dwellings in 2006.

Housing Tenure

- The majority of Cashmere's and City's households own the homes that they live in.
- Privately-owned homes (with or without a mortgage) still significantly outnumber those that are 'not owned' and are predominantly rented.
